WHERE history AND CONTEMPORARY design
SEAMLESSLY COMBINE

The Pressworks has been designed to preserve the sites working heritage whilst creating a place fit for the modern world. Demonstrated through the restoration of the original grade II listed building and the addition of new build elements, The Pressworks is the finest example of history and contemporary design seamlessly combining to create a unique place.

POCKETS of green
FOR RESIDENTS to enjoy
ALL YEAR ROUND

Courtyards and outdoor space play an important role in creating pockets of green for residents to enjoy all year round. An original metal press has been restored by expert technicians and stands proudly in one of the courtyards as a reminder of the sites working history and celebration of local craftsmanship.

The Bullring, Birmingham

DISCOVER
THE UK'S capital
OF GROWTH

Strategically positioned in the heart of the country, Birmingham is central to the UK's strong economic performance. The city has a booming £120 billion regional economy and is home to a large number of international brands that employ thousands of people throughout the region.

MAJOR EMPLOYERS

BIRMINGHAM IS A CITY you can
 BANK ON

In 2021, Goldman Sachs unveiled a major investment into Birmingham, opening its biggest office outside of London and creating ‘hundreds of jobs’ in the process. In recent years, the city has become home to the domestic HQ of banking giant HSBC whilst Deutsche Bank also has a large presence in Birmingham.

THE £120 billion
 REGIONAL ECONOMY

Birmingham is an economic powerhouse in the UK. Analysts predict the city’s Gross Value Added (GVA) - the value of goods and services produced in the area - to increase by 16.4% by 2030, much faster than other areas in the country. Given the uplift from job creation, inward investment and a growing population, the demand for quality city-centre living in Birmingham is expected to continue to grow exponentially.

Birmingham is home to 110,000 companies and over 715,000 employees, the largest concentration outside of London.

Birmingham is firmly established as England's second city with a population of 1,149,000 (2019). Furthermore, this population is forecast to grow +0.51% pa over the period 2019-2024, 19% higher than the UK average.

HIGH-SPEED growth
FOR A CITY
going PLACES

Centrally located in the middle of England, Birmingham boasts an enviable transport infrastructure that includes an international airport, extensive mainline rail network and connected motorways soon to be bolstered by the state-of-the-art, high-speed rail project, HS2.

Arriving in 2026, HS2 will bring Birmingham within 45 minutes journey of London and an hour's journey of Manchester, Sheffield, whilst shaping Britain's low carbon transport future and creating over 22,000 new jobs.

Getting around the city is just as easy as getting around the country. Birmingham's Metro Light Rail Line sees trams run every 6-8 minutes throughout the week. The line currently spans 13 miles with further expansion plans that will see it become the first in the UK to operate battery powered trams and electric overhead lines.
